TRAINING SESSION DISCLAIMER

This must be printed, signed and presented to the front desk PRIOR to your service.

I understand that this offer of a discounted waxing service is for training purposes only and can be cancelled at any time leading up to the service. If The Pretty Kitty needs to cancel training services due to any unforeseen issues that may arise with the trainer/trainee, the client may be rebooked at our regular price if they so choose. We cannot provide a discounted service if it isn't a training session. We will book according to what we have available which may not be the same time/date as the training service. I also understand there will be a new Esthetician working on me who is learning her technique and speed.

I am aware that the service may run longer than standard Pretty Kitty time. There will be a trainer that will be overseeing the work to make sure the service is done properly and that the client is comfortable.

I also understand that sometimes there are skin irritations that can happen with waxing such as breakout and lifting which may occur if skin is sensitive. I will not hold The Pretty Kitty liable.

If you are using any products from the dermatologist or taking medications, please check with your doctor before getting waxed as certain products can cause damage to the skin when getting waxed.

If you have had any sun exposure that has made your skin more sensitive prior to waxing, please wait at least 2-3 days before getting waxed as skin can tear. The Pretty Kitty reserves the right to refuse service for anyone that has the above mentioned contraindications.

If you have been shaving, please make sure you have 2-3 weeks of growth or 1/2 inch of hair.

Sincerely,

The Pretty Kitty
